

Born in Iowa and raised in Nashville, I completed undergraduate studies at Northwestern University and medical school at the University of Tennessee in Memphis. After residency at Case Western Reserve in Cleveland, OH, I completed my trauma fellowship at Harborview Medical Center in 2010. I have been faculty at Washington University in Saint Louis for 16 years, previously serving as the trauma fellowship director and currently Associate Professor. I am an active AO Faculty member and ABOS Board Examiner. I completed the AOA APEX Leadership Course in 2023 and look forward to joining the AOA.
