I was born in Fairfax, Virginia but spent most of my formative years in Chattanooga, Tennessee. I attended Davidson College before attending graduate school at Drexel and then completed Medical school at Jefferson Medical College in Philadelphia. I trained at Georgetown for residency and then Rush for spine fellowship. I returned to Georgetown after fellowship where I have been ever since.