Dr. Ibe is an Associate Professor for Musculoskeletal Oncology at the University of Pittsburgh. Prior to that he was the Resident Program Director at the University of Mississippi Medical Center. He is a caring and passionate individual, who is always seeking to grow in his knowledge and abilities as a leader. He is in the process of completing an executive master's in business administration at the Millsaps else School of Management in Jackson Mississippi. He enjoys sports especially both kinds of football, chess and being active.