Raised in Milwaukee, Wisconsin, Dr. Jacobs completed undergraduate studies at Colby College in Waterville, Maine majoring in chemistry and economics while lettering in varsity football and baseball. He worked as an EMT for a couple years before attending medical school at the Medical College of Wisconsin in Milwaukee. After orthopaedic residency at the University of Vermont, he completed the ACE trauma fellowship at Harborview Medical Center in Seattle Washington in 2019. Out of fellowship, he was hired to begin a new orthopaedic surgical program for the University of Minnesota in St. Cloud, where he has served as faculty for the past 7 years while laying the foundation for a new medical school. He serves as director of orthopaedic trauma for the CentraCare Health System and has established an AOA Own the Bone Star Performer geriatric fracture program in St. Cloud. He is an active OTA faculty member and completed the AOA APEX Leadership Course in 2024. Outside of medicine, he enjoys wake surfing and waterskiing with his family, golfing and volunteer coaching his kids' hockey and soccer teams.
